

Baby Formula – the Washington Post proves RFK Jr. was right

Arsenic...

Lead...

BPA...

PFAS...

Seed oils...

Unnecessary added sugars.

All found hiding in the bottles we've been giving our babies.

Now watch what happens when the mainstream media gets caught.

* First they said "these products don't contain any of the things Secretary Kennedy says they do"...

• Now they're saying "okay... they have all those things... but they're not that bad overall."

That's called damage control.

The FDA just launched Operation Stork Speed... the first deep review of infant formula ingredients since 1998. Let that sink in. Twenty-six years of feeding our babies products that nobody was properly checking.

Three-quarters of U.S. infants consume formula during their first six months... with 40% relying on it as their only source of nutrition.

Our babies deserved better. And now they're finally getting it.

See what they're uncovering in Operation Stork Speed. This is what happens when we refuse to stay silent. When we ask questions... and demand transparency.

And fight for our children's health.

Standing for truth,
Nadia Willis